

Spotlight on Terrorism – May 2026

June 4, 2026

Overview¹

► During May 2026 the hostilities between Israel and Hezbollah continued despite the ceasefire which began on April 17. The ceasefire in the Gaza Strip remained in effect despite the continuing eliminations of Hamas terrorist operatives and attempted attacks on IDF soldiers, and the Israeli security forces continued extensive counterterrorism activity in Judea and Samaria.

► Lebanon: Hezbollah issued 613 claims of responsibility for attacks on IDF forces in south Lebanon and on military and civilian targets in northern Israel, many of them exploding drone attacks. The IDF operated in the forward defense zone in south Lebanon and expanded it beyond the Litani River along with continued strikes on thousands of Hezbollah targets in various areas in Lebanon. Approximately 700 Hezbollah commanders and operatives were eliminated, in addition to senior figures and operatives in the Palestinian Islamic Jihad (PIJ), the Amal Movement and other terrorist organizations. Eight IDF soldiers were killed in south Lebanon and in Israeli territory.

► The Gaza Strip: The ceasefire that went into effect on October 10, 2025 continued. IDF forces operated in the Yellow Line region and attacked terrorists who approached them. Hamas' military wing commander, Izz al-Din al-Haddad, and his successor, Muhammad Odeh, were eliminated within two weeks, and other terrorists who planned terrorist attacks were eliminated, including operatives involved in the atrocities of the October 7, 2023 attack and massacre.

► Israel, Judea and Samaria: A vehicular ramming wounded three Israelis and the murder of an Israeli couple is being investigated on suspicion of being prompted by nationalist motives. The Israeli security forces continued counterterrorism activity throughout Judea and Samaria, during which terrorist operatives were eliminated, hundreds of suspects and wanted persons were detained and weapons were seized. Attacks planned by Arab-Israelis were prevented and weapons smugglers were detained.

► The Houthis: The Houthis did not attack after the ceasefire between Iran and the United States went into effect on April 8, 2026.

► Syria: IDF forces continued operations in south Syria. A militia affiliated with the "resistance axis"² claimed responsibility for attacks on IDF forces; there is no confirmation of the claims.

► Terrorism abroad: Four Palestinians were arrested in Cyprus on suspicion of planning to attack Israelis, a Danish citizen was arrested on suspicion of involvement in a Hamas network that planned to attack Israeli and Jewish targets in Germany and other European countries. A senior operative in the Hezbollah Brigades militia in Iraq was arrested and charged in the United States with involvement in revenge attacks over the war in Iran, including against Jewish institutions.

Lebanon

Hezbollah³

► During May 2026, IDF forces continued activity in the forward defense line area in south Lebanon (the Yellow Line), located and destroyed terrorist infrastructure and weapons (some of which were hidden in civilian buildings), and eliminated terrorists who approached the forces, attempted to attack or attempted to approach the border fence. Because of the increase in exploding drone attacks, including into Israeli territory, the IDF expanded the maneuver and advanced north of the Litani River and took control of the Beaufort Castle (Qal'at al-Shaqif) for the first time since the IDF's withdrawal from south Lebanon in 2000. The IDF attacked rocket launchers, buildings used for military purposes and Hezbollah military facilities and assets in other areas of south Lebanon and the Beqa'a Valley, mainly in the Tyre and Nabatieh region.⁴ Two targeted strikes in the Dahiyeh al-Janoubia in Beirut eliminated commanders. Eight IDF soldiers were killed, three of them, including a female soldier, by exploding drones inside Israeli territory (IDF spokesperson and Israeli media, May 1-31, 2026).

► During May 2026, despite the alleged "ceasefire" that began on April 17, 2026, Hezbollah continued attacking Israeli targets in south Lebanon and northern Israel. The organization issued 613 claims of responsibility for attacks, compared to 692 the previous month, the overwhelming majority targeting IDF forces in south Lebanon, as well as against military and security targets in northern Israel. The attacks employed exploding drones (212 claims), standard UAVs, rockets, mortar shells, anti-tank missiles, artillery shells and anti-aircraft fire, and included exchanges of fire with IDF forces in south Lebanon. In light of the IDF penetration north of the Litani River and because of the expansion of the strikes in south Lebanon and other areas, Hezbollah increased its attacks into northern Israel beyond the border area, including rocket fire at Safed, Acre and the Krayot areas near Haifa (Hezbollah combat information Telegram channel, May 1-31, 2026).

► Throughout May 2026, Hezbollah did not formally issue the names and positions of senior figures and operatives who were killed in IDF strikes. However, social media accounts, including unofficial accounts affiliated with Hezbollah, posted the photographs and names of more than 700 commanders of various ranks and operatives in the different units, when some of the notices were official and bore the Hezbollah emblem (such as the X account of Qalaat al Mudiq, Telegram channel of Hezbollah in the Field and Facebook page South Lebanon, May 1-31, 2026):

Salem Zuhdi Qariqa, aka al-Mutaz, was the son of Faiz Hamed Qariqa,¹² who was among the initiators of the first intifada and was killed in battle against Israeli security forces in the al-Shuja'iya battle in October 1987 (Telegram channel of al-Sayyad, May 29, 2026; al-Risalah, May 30, 2026). Jamal Abu Aoun, head of the anesthesia department at Yaffa Hospital, was reportedly killed in the strike in Deir al-Balah (Quds Agency, May 30, 2026).

¹² Faiz Hamed Qariqa was one of four armed terrorists belonging to Palestinian Islamic Jihad (PIJ) who were killed after exchanges of fire with the Israeli security forces in the al-Shuja'iya neighborhood in Gaza on October 6, 1987, during which a member of the Israel Security Agency (ISA) was also killed. Although the first intifada officially began on December 9, 1987, PIJ regards the incident in al-Shuja'iya as the official starting point (Palestine Today, October 6, 2019).

They belonged to various units of the Jerusalem Brigades, including rockets, "special forces" (the equivalent of the Hamas nukhba units), intelligence, engineering, combat information, training, security, recruitment, finance, ambulances, military industries and assistance. Among the eliminated officers were Tariq Ibrahim Aslim, commander of the communications corps of the Gaza Brigade; deputy commander of the al-Zeitoun Battalion, Abd al-Hakim Ashour Badawi; commander of the artillery unit of the Central Gaza Strip Brigade, Yousef Awni Khattab; and commander of the sniper unit of the central brigade, Salah Shaban Isma'il. The military wing confirmed that Hussam Manal al-Dabbaka, who was killed on August 22, 2024 and was represented as a "journalist," was a cell commander in the central combat information unit of the Central Brigade¹³ (Telegram channel of the Jerusalem Brigades, May 1-31, 2026). The publication also exposed the double identity of Mahmoud Muhammad Rasras, killed on June 17, 2025. The NGO American Near East Refugee Aid (Anera) announced had been the organization's psychological aid coordinator in the Strip (Anera Facebook page, June ¹⁴ For detailed information about attacks on terrorist operatives and facilities inside civilian compounds, see the Information Center's weekly Spotlight on Terrorism and the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict. Using civilian facilities such as schools and hospitals for terrorist purposes is common among the terrorist organizations operating in the Gaza Strip, especially Hamas. The organizations exploit the results of the IDF attacks for propaganda and incitement, exaggerating the number of casualties, making claims of significant harm to civilians, and, in most cases, concealing the identities of the operatives targeted.

Judea, Samaria and Israel

Terrorist Attacks

► During May 2026 there was one terrorist attack, compared to two in the previous month, and the suspicion that the double murder of an Israeli couple was a nationalist-motivated attack was investigated:

◆ Vehicular ramming in Gush Etzion: On May 31, a Palestinian terrorist wounded three Israeli civilians in a vehicular ramming at the Gush Etzion Junction. One of the victims was an Israeli girl who was left in critical condition. An IDF soldier shot and killed the terrorist (IDF spokesperson and Israeli media, May 31, 2026). According to reports, Amjad Jawad Abd al-Fattah Natsha, 31, was killed after carrying out a vehicular ramming at the Gush Etzion Junction near Bethlehem (Quds Agency, May 31, 2026). Hamas praised the "heroic operation" and mourned the death of the "heroic shaheed," Amjad Jawad Abd al-Fattah Natsha from Hebron. Hamas reiterated that it would continue the path of "resistance, steadfastness and sacrifice"¹⁵ until "freedom and liberation from the occupation" (Hamas Telegram channel, May 31, 2026). The PIJ's military wing praised the "heroic operation" and claimed the "rebel shaheed," Amjad Jawad al-Natsha, was a hero of Khalil al-Rahman [a terrorist network which also claimed responsibility for a combined attack in Ra'anana in January 2024]. The statement called on all "the revolutionaries and heroes" in all the communities in Judea, Samaria and east Jerusalem to "escalate the confrontation with the Zionist enemy forces and its settler gangs by all available means" (Telegram channel of the Jerusalem Brigades, May 31, 2026).

¹⁵ Unwavering intention to destroy the State of Israel regardless of the cost to the Palestinians.

◆ Suspicion of a nationalist-motivated double murder in south-central Israel: On May 22, the bodies of two Israeli citizens were found in a vehicle in an open area near Mishmar Ayalon in the Judean foothills. The initial suspicions were of a murder-suicide or a crime-related murder, but several days later a 17 year-old Israeli Arab was detained on suspicion of committing a nationalist-motivated murder. His brother carried out a vehicular ramming in the Gllot area in October 2024. His father, three of his brothers and a "Palestinian youth" were also detained on suspicion of involvement in the double murder (Israeli media, May 23 and May 28-29, 2026).¹⁶

¹⁶ Since there is only suspicion, the murder was not included in the graph of terrorist attack statistics. If a later confirmation is obtained, it will be added.

Significant Terrorist Attacks, 2026¹⁷

Annual Distribution of Significant Terrorist Attacks

Weapons, explosive devices and lathes were seized, as were printed incitement materials and funds for financing terrorist activity. The ministry of health in Ramallah stated that Ayman Rafiq Muhammad al-Hashlamoun, 30, was killed by "occupation bullets" in the Qalandia refugee camp (Quds Agency, May 11, 2026). Hamas praised the "heroic operation" and the exchange of fire with the "occupation forces" in the Qalandia camp and praised Ayman al-Hashlamoun's "courage." Hamas claimed the operation reflected the "spirit of resistance and steadfastness and the determination of the Palestinian people to confront the aggression of the occupation, the invasions and the continuing events in Gaza" (Telegram channel of Hamas in Judea and Samaria, May 11, 2026). Hamas military wing spokesman Abu Obeida claimed the shooting in Qalandia and a previous stabbing in Silwad reflected the strength of the people and their "opposition to injustice." He called on Palestinian youths to "resist"¹⁸ and know that their "sticks and knives" were as effective as rockets (Telegram channel of Abu Obeida, May 11, 2026).

► During May 2026, the security forces also thwarted terrorist activity within the territory of the State of Israel:

◆ On May 4, it was stated that the Israeli security forces detained five suspects involved in smuggling weapons from the Jordanian border into Judea and Samaria. Reportedly, several months earlier smuggling handguns across the border by drone was prevented. Four Israelis citizens from the Negev, Wael al-Saraya, Madian al-Saraya, Zaid Abu Gwayed, Ali al-Saraya, and a Palestinian from Yatta in the Hebron area, Nasser Najada, were detained on suspicion of involvement in weapons smuggling. Ten handguns and ten magazines were discovered in the possession of two of the detainees. Since 2022, Hammouri has been residing in France after his Israeli residency was revoked, and he has been in contact with terrorist elements belonging to the Shi'ite "resistance axis"²⁰ to advance terrorist activity in Israel and recruit operatives. The investigation revealed had Hammouri met with the five suspects in Europe during 2024-2025, recruited them to set up a terrorist network for carrying out terrorist activity in Israel and equipped them with a telephone for encrypted communications. Indictments were filed against two of the detainees, the brothers Yazid and Sa'id Dadu, for active membership in a terrorist organization, prohibited action with property for terrorist purposes, conspiracy to commit a crime and attempted conspiracy to commit a criminal offense constituting an act of terrorism (ISA spokesperson and Police spokesperson, May 26, 2026).

Hamida reportedly began preparing an explosive device, but stopped after failing to obtain sufficient materials. During 2024 Ghanayem was in contact with a relative residing in Cyprus, who told him that he held a position in Hamas and participated in its activity. Ghanayem was asked to carry out various tasks for Hamas, including photographing different locations and transferring information about checkpoints and soldiers arriving at the hotel where he worked in Jerusalem. According to the indictment, Ghanayem told his relative that a group of soldiers from the Air Force school was expected to stay at the hotel for an event, and gave him their room numbers. The Hamas operative asked Ghanayem whether they would assist him if he sent a suicide bomber to the hotel, and Ghanayem replied that he himself was prepared to carry out a suicide bombing attack, but requested more time to prepare. In January 2023, during riots held while security forces were demolishing the house of a terrorist in the Shuafat refugee camp, Ghanayem and another terrorist threw pipe bombs at the security forces from a distance of approximately ten meters. Ghanayem is charged with offenses of conspiracy to commit a terrorist act of murder with aggravated circumstances, contact with a foreign agent, attempted delivery of information to the enemy, an action or transaction involving weapons for terrorist purposes, a terrorist act of aggravated sabotage and additional offenses, while Hamida is charged with conspiracy to commit a terrorist act of murder with aggravated circumstances (Ministry of Justice spokesperson, May 31, 2026).

The Houthis

Syria

► During May 2026, reports continued of "infiltrations by the Israeli occupation forces" into villages in the rural areas of the Quneitra and Daraa provinces, the erection of checkpoints and the detention of residents (SANA, the Syrian news agency, and the Syrian Human Rights Observatory, May 1-31, 2026).

► On May 7, the Islamic Resistance Front in Syria – the "Brave Ones" issued a video allegedly documenting rockets fired by its operatives at IDF forces in the Tel al-Ahmar area, located south of Quneitra in southern Syria. According to the militia, "direct hits on the infrastructure" of the target were identified, and the results were defined as the "partial destruction of the fortification system" (Telegram channel of the Islamic Resistance Front in Syria, May 7, 2026). There is no Israeli confirmation of the claims.

► The organization's commander, Abu Mujahid, issued a video declaring a new campaign against Israel under the title Min al-Qawa'ed (From the Foundations). He said the attack was the first in a chain of operations, claiming that the expansion of the "Zionist enemy" into Syria was "suicide" and threatened to escalate the struggle against it if expansion continued (Telegram channel of the Islamic Resistance Front in Syria, May 7, 2026).

Terrorism Abroad

► On May 21, the Cypriot security services arrested two Palestinians, 32 and 38, on suspicion of terrorist activity, and searches of the home of one of them in Larnaca revealed materials which could be used for manufacturing explosives. Subsequently, two additional Palestinian suspects were detained in the Larnaca area. One of the suspects reportedly told investigators that they planned to attack Israelis. The investigation of the timing and nature of the planned attacks and the suspects' affiliation with terrorist organizations continues (Cypriot media, May 25-31, 2026).

► On May 27, the federal prosecution in Germany announced that Danish police had detained a suspect involved in a Hamas terrorist network which planned to attack Jewish and Israeli targets in Europe. According to the prosecution, the suspect, a Danish citizen named Yousif S., who is expected to be extradited to Germany, is a Hamas operative, and in July 2025 he transferred five handguns and ammunition to Abd al-J., one of the defendants accused of membership in the Hamas network who was detained in Germany in October 2025. Abd al-J. transferred the weapons to Muhammad A., another defendant detained in Britain in November 2025, who was supposed to pass them on as preparation for attacks on Israeli or Jewish institutions in Germany and additional places on the continent (German prosecution website, May 27, 2026).²²

► The United States Department of Justice announced that Muhammad Baqir Saad Daoud al-Saadi, a senior figure in the Hezbollah Brigades in Iraq and in the Iranian Revolutionary Guards, was arrested in Turkey and extradited to the United States for involvement in nearly 20 terrorist attacks, some of which were carried out in Europe and the United States, as revenge for the war in Iran. According to the announcement, al-Saadi was involved in attacks on Jewish and American targets in the United States, Europe and Canada in recent months and in planning additional attacks in the United States on Jewish and other institutions. He was close to former Qods Force commander Qassem Soleimani (United States Department of Justice, May 15, 2026). It was later reported that during the investigation, maps and photographs were discovered of homes used by the American president in Florida and New York, and suspicion also arose that al-Saadi advanced attempts to harm two of the American president's children as revenge for the elimination of Qods Force commander Qassem Soleimani in January 2020 (New York Post, May 22, 2026). In response to the American announcement, Hezbollah Brigades spokesman Abu Mujahid al-Assaf denied al-Saadi was a member of the organization, but promised he would return to his homeland "with his head held high," since he supported the "resistance" (Telegram channel of the Hezbollah Brigades, May 18, 2026).
